THE GREATEST SHOW on EARTH

"It's here! The one, the only Central Big Top! We feature not lions and tigers, but real, live students, working and playing in their natural habitat. There are thrills galore, amazing feats of skills and daring both on the athletic field and in the classroom. Those who will be leaving the show this year will always remember the long hours of rehearsal necessary for a good performance in either.

Tell you what we're going to do. For the tiny price of turning the following pages, we're going to let you see the greatest, most colossal production on earth. Get your tickets here . . ."

Everald G. Kellogg

Mr. Kellogg as manager for all the West Allis "Big Tops" has a combined co-ordinator, educator, and publicity agent job. His is the tremendous task of keeping peace and harmony among the entire cast of the West Allis school system. Supervising the building of the new Horace Mann plant and generally stressing the importance of education kept him more than busy during the year.

THE MANAGER'S OFFICE . . .

open for business the year 'round

Click, click, click! If it isn't one of the office girl s' typewriters, it's Mr. Essock's adding machine. That noise always means that this efficient crew is on the job mimeographing vital announcements, typing letters, answering the many calls that come to our Big Top, and generally keeping us on the credit side of the ledger.

Sam Essock

Merlyn Connelly, Ruth Babbe, Flossie Goltz

Dear "Butch"

As I am sitting here trying to think what to write, old memories keep coming back to me. I guess that is the reason I am writing to you. Butch, I wish I could see you more often, but I guess that is impossible. I remember the time we used to go to the show together and how we used to laugh at Buster Keaton. Remember the time we went to see "Battle of the Century" and how we laughed at the pie throwing scene? Remember the time we went to see "Steamboat Bill Jr." and how we laughed at the scene where the whole front of the house fell on Buster and he walked out the window unhurt? Remember the time we went to see "The Cameraman" and how we laughed at the scene where Buster washed clothes in a laundry? Remember the time we went to see "College" and how we laughed at the baseball scene? Remember the time we went to see "Sherlock Jr." and how we laughed at the scene where Buster is sitting in the projection booth watching a picture on the screen and he falls through the screen into the picture? Remember the time we went to see "The Navigator" and how we laughed at the scene where Buster and his girl friend were adrift on the ocean in a battleship? Remember the time we went to see "Seven Chances" and how we laughed at the scene where Buster is being chased by hundreds of brides? Remember the time we went to see "Our Hospitality" and how we laughed at the scene where Buster is being chased over the cliff by a railroad train? Remember the time we went to see "The Three Ages" and how we laughed at the scene where Buster is being chased by a lion? Remember the time we went to see "Go West" and how we laughed at the scene where Buster is milking a cow? Remember the time we went to see "The General" and how we laughed at the scene where Buster is sitting on the cowcatcher of a locomotive? Remember the time we went to see "Battling Butler" and how we laughed at the scene where Buster is boxing a bear? Remember the time we went to see "The Blacksmith" and how we laughed at the scene where Buster is fighting a lion? Remember the time we went to see "The Paleface" and how we laughed at the scene where Buster is being chased by Indians? Remember the time we went to see "Our Wife

John Gach

Our Head Ringmaster has only been with us a year, but the whole show has felt the presence of his vibrant personality. He put new spark in many of the old acts and organized exciting new ones. But best of all he has preserved that human touch so necessary to a good administrator. The students' problems have become his problems, and in the short time he has been with us he has endeared himself to the entire cast of students. So here's hats off to our new Ringmaster!

The Student Council filled twenty Christmas baskets, with the help of the student body, for West Allis families. Harold Conrad receives congratulations from Mayor Klentz.

The Inter-Club Council, a by-product of the Student Council, was organized last fall. Representatives of all the clubs met once a month and tried to promote cooperation among the various organizations. The Council began work by printing a handbook about parliamentary law to be used by the clubs. This organization is the first of its kind in the history of our Big Top.

Student Council — In the center ring, ladies and gentlemen, we now find the Student Council which is the center ring of student activities here in Central's Big Top.

"I move the previous question." "I second it." "I third it." Whoops! One too many voices heard from. The introduction of strict parliamentary procedure proved baffling to some for a short time and inserted much unplanned humor into Council meetings with the resulting confusion.

Several new projects marked this year as a progressive one for the Council. Our cadet system became well known to anyone who took to wandering around in the halls. The Interclub Council was set up by the Student Council in order to better coordinate club activities. The first annual "Snow Ball" sponsored by the Council established a precedent of electing a "Snowmaid" who could chose her own king or "Snowman". The spring talent show was organized by the Program Committee. The Publicity Committee kept students well informed and often amused with the monthly bulletin board decorations opposite the office.

Ellen Sikorski, Mary Ann Rudnick, and Alice Telich are decorating the gym for the dance after the Hale game.

Harold Conrad is trying to get new members for the World Federalists in the clubs assembly.

ORCHESTRA

With "Cosi Fan Tutti" as their theme song the orchestra had a busy year. These budding Kreislers under the able direction of Mr. Damon Shook practiced long and hard for the biennial West Allis Music Festival and managed at the same time to enter both a full orchestra and soloists in the music contest at Cudahy, play for Baccalaureate, and play incidental music for "Death Takes a Holiday."

STRING QUINTET

This talented group of musicians covered a lot of territory. They were responsible for the beautiful background music heard at many civic gatherings such as the Lions Club and Woman's Club. The String Quintet is composed of the first chair musicians from each string section of the orchestra.

CHORUS

"Oh Sing Your Songs," and the chorus did. There were many droopy eyelids among the faithful that staggered to school in the wee hours of the morning for chorus rehearsal, but a session with energetic Mr. Fox soon lifted the fog of sleep. In their new and cheerful room they rehearsed long and loudly to prepare for their crowded spring agenda. A winter concert, open house, and singing at the Rotary Club made this one of the most active acts in the Central show.

TRIPLE TRIO

Nine young ladies of song entertained us throughout the year with unique arrangements of our favorite songs. A new group, they quickly earned the admiration of all by their consistently outstanding performances.

BAND

As Mr. Shook struck up the band, Central students applauded. Faithful is the word for these musicians as they turned out week after week all during the basketball and football seasons to play pep songs and cheer our boys on to victory. They had their serious side, too, as they put on both a winter and a spring concert, entered a fine concert band in the Cudahy Music Festival, and added their bit to the all-city music festival.

WAMAGO ANNUAL

With 208 as their headquarters, the "spotters" for the Central Circus branched out all over the city gathering news and pictures to make this program of the '50-'51 show. Co-editors Barbara Elleson and Christine Goering, carrying on where Janet Pieritz left off, saw to it that things in general were kept moving toward that ever present deadline. The art work is the combined talent of Ellen Sikorski, Mary Ann Rudnick, and Andy La Barbara, and Bob Essock was staff photographer. Miss Adams gave up many lunch hours as she worked long and faithfully cutting and pasting pictures. Billie Holmes, Nan Jonas, Carol Hochmuth, Don Kollatz, Sally Voros, Janet Treutinger, and Ada Rintoul spent many hours writing and typing.

WAMAGO NEWSPAPER

"Beat the deadline" became almost a pass word with the live-wire publicity staff. These news-hounds chased endlessly after up-to-the-minute snatches of coming events. With one eye on the margins and the other on the name file the typists got the articles ready for the printers. During the fall semester Marilyn Mathwig undertook the job of chief pencil-pusher and created the Wamago from the pile of articles. Helen DeFouw took over for the second semester.

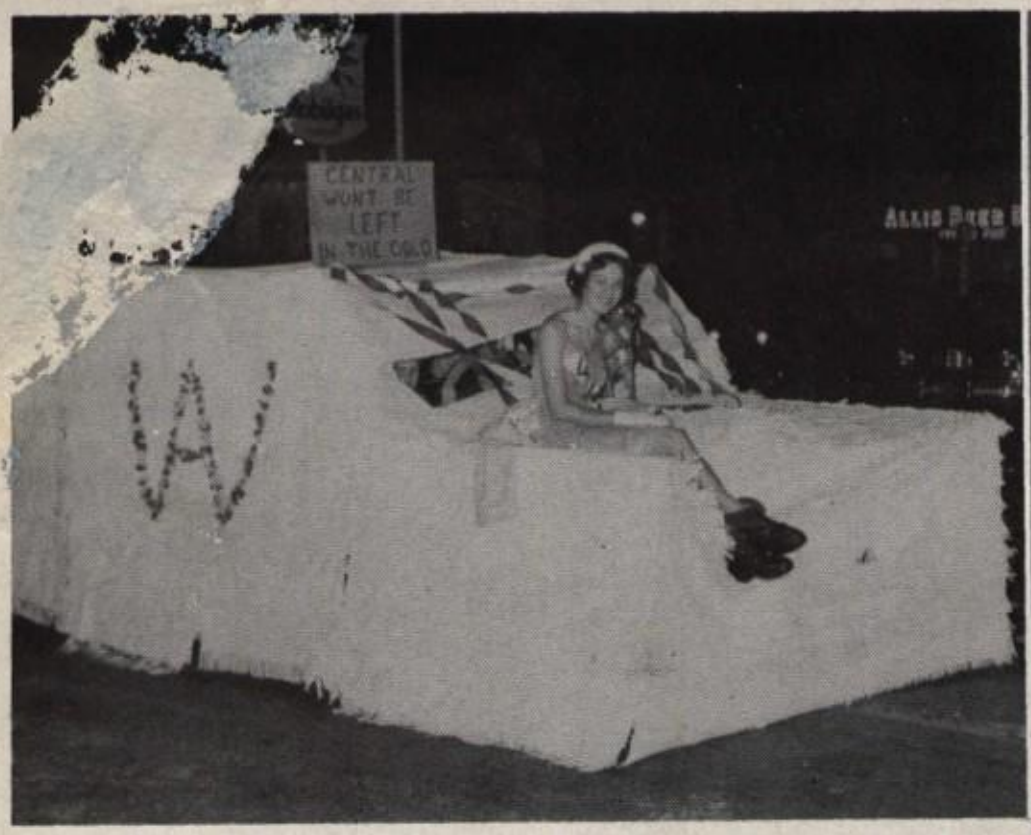
Back to School — those were hectic days. If you didn't bump into dazed freshmen, you couldn't find your desk; the initials were all sanded off. The cleaning women must have worked hard to have the building so spic and span. Spending $8.00 on the Booster Plan was a good deal. There were books and supplies to buy, too.

Library Helpers — Sandy Philip, Joan Strauss, Marita Richmond, Wilma Rohda, Mary Jane Opanchar, Joanne Smarslick, Jane Gray, Jean Norman.

In September the vacation-quiet school resounded again with click-clacking of typewriter keys, the banging of pots and pans in the home economics lab, assorted mechanical noises from the machine shop, and the slap of loafers against terrazzo floors informing one and all that school was again in session.



HOMECOMING 1950

"Good things come in small packages — vote for Nan Jonas." They did. Tom Schwalbach was chosen to reign with Nan, and they made Homecoming 1950 a day to remember.

In the afternoon there was an impressive coronation procession and ceremony. Twenty-five floats, some beautiful and some funny, made the parade a sight to see. The evening was climaxed by the football game and a dance.

The Halloween party was a standout this year. There was a talent-packed floor show featuring Mary Ann Rudnick and Gloria Neibert. Gloria D'Amato emceed, and Jack Simon, perennial favorite, came back to do one of his inimitable routines. Sights of the evening — Miss Gatz and Miss Butler bobbing for apples; Mr. Gach (in a plaid shirt!) leading the square-dancing; Karen Nowicki, Janeen Ellis, Arlene Bilian, and Mary Ellen Newman in prize-winning costumes.

The old school was unrecognizable during the Christmas season. Normally drab walls suddenly became things of beauty as the Art Department took over. Getting into the spirit of the thing, the Council sponsored a door decorating contest in which aspiring artists magically transformed ordinary doors into story-book-like scenes.

Climaxing the season was the "Snow Ball" where a precedent of a "Snowmaid" choosing a "Snowman" was set.

The "Snowball" Was Packed

"Quality instead of quantity" became the byword regarding assemblies. Starting the year was an outdoor assembly featuring Tom Domencich doing a reverse Gypsy Rose Lee with his football equipment. Next was Homecoming and the beautiful coronation procession and ceremony. Then followed the pep rallies with students alternately cheering and laughing at the antics on the stage. Prom time came and with it the style show featuring correct grooming and correct manners. The season closed with the traditional Senior Honor Assembly.

"The Bulldogs showed their teeth"

With a schedule of nine games the Bulldog gridders began their season September 15, 1950. Game after game the boys were faced with the same facts. Lack of depth and inexperience were the causes of the incurable plague, but the Bulldogs showed real power against the strong West Milwaukee team. Statistics show that we made eleven first downs to twelve for the Mustangs and were slighted in yardage by only 77 yards.

The first annual Dad's Night was held on November 1. The inspiration helped the Bulldogs defeat the Blackshirts, and they wound up the season with a victory; the final score was 13-7.

Coach Lynn Jordan, newly appointed coach, did a splendid job with the help of Coaches Dich and Bowen. LeRoy Podd and Dale Haberman were chosen most improved player and most valuable player respectively. Tom Domencich was captain.

In spite of all the obstacles to be crossed, our team showed its school spirit at all times.

"Hooping it up"

Central's cagers, with only two returning lettermen from the previous season and a lack of height, didn't fare too badly.

The team won only three of its twelve scheduled conference games. Though this may seem unimpressive, it played "heads-up" ball and kept most of the scores close. The 49-45 overtime game won by the first place West Milwaukee team was one of these.

The surprise of the season came when we defeated our city rivals, Nathan Hale, although we had lost to them twice during the season. In the second regional game our hoopsters won over Oconomowoc. The third game was played against South Milwaukee, a team that was expected to win the state championship.

Although we didn't win too many games, our team showed it wasn't a quitting team, and in most games was almost able to win in the last minutes. This was due to fine coaching by Coach Archie Jaecks and fine spirit of the spectators.

Central had a very young cross country team this year and started slow in early meets, but as the season progressed the cindermen showed signs of promise. In explaining the season coach Hibler said, "We got a late start this year and didn't reach our peak until the end of the season."

In the Suburban Cross Country meet Central finished sixth. Sophomore Gene Kwaterski was the only Central man to place in the top ten. He also led the Bulldog runners in all meets. Kwaterski and Ronald Kostroski were awarded major letters. Jack Bouche, although unable to run, was captain and manager of the team.

"Over the river and through the woods.."

With only one returning letterman from last year's squad, Coach Gabert had to build the swimming team from the sophomore and junior prospects.

Don Strow, who did a fine job in his sophomore and junior years, really showed his stuff this year. He finished the season with two pool records and five school records to his credit. It will be a long time before his record of 36.4 seconds in the 60 yard individual medley will be broken. Don also got a second and third in the Suburban Meet and a fifth in the State Meet.

Only four boys received letters this year. They are Jerry Cole, Jim Elleson, George Porter, and Don Strow. All are seniors except Cole.

Volley Ball — (Kneeling) Charles Gurunian, Ronald Hammerling, Richard Noeske, Sal Cincotta, Roger Bentley, John Suarez. (Standing) Russ Deakin, Jack Bouche, Ed Schmitz, John Ponis, Dave Lynch, Coach Dich, Glen Miller.

Central's volleyball team completed their 1951 schedule by taking two out of three games from Cudahy and finished in a tie for fifth place in the standings with Hale. Their record was 10 wins against 14 losses.

During the season Central swept three game sets from Whitefish Bay and Shorewood while losing straight sets to Waukesha, South Milwaukee, and Wauwatosa. They won one and lost two at the hands of West Milwaukee and Hale.

Coach Dich praised the efforts of the boys and said the team was well co-ordinated and worked very well as a unit. Dave Lynch was rated the most outstanding player on the team.

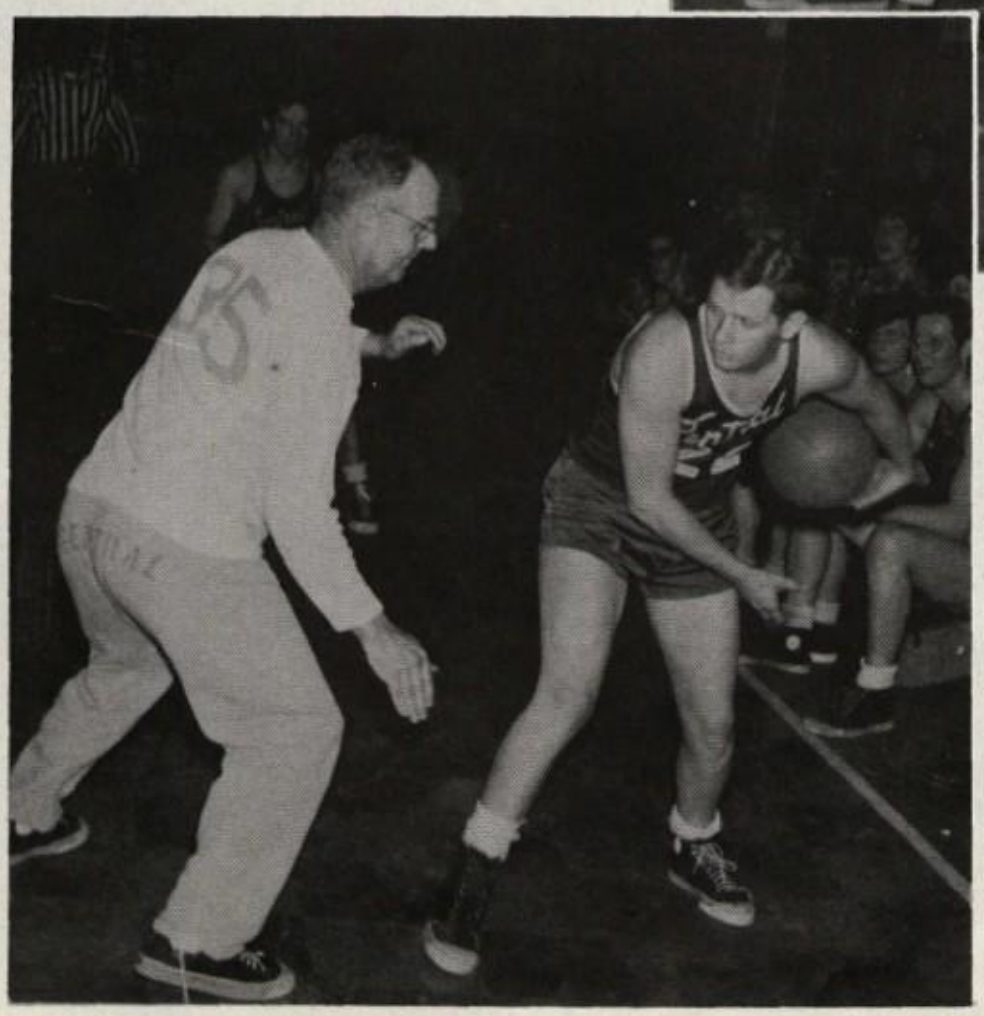
Anxious Moments

"It's mine, all mine!"



The "Aging Antelopes," paced by the furious attack of Mr. Gach and the expert shooting of "Luscious" Landgraf, squeezed out the lettermen to place first in the Liniment League. This famous classic, held for the first time at Central, was sponsored by the Student Council to raise funds for the Christmas baskets. It drew no attention from sports writers in any part of the country, but it did draw the attention of the students who flocked to the gym to see the faculty trounce the Lettermen 20-19.

Some of the "Big Top's" most daring performers are developed under the watchful eye of Miss Marie Adams, adviser, in the year-round activities of the Girls' W. A. Club. Field hockey, basketball, volleyball, badminton, and baseball are among the challenging sports.
